COURSE TITLE: Introduction to Philosophy

COURSE NUMBER: PL 250

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

Conveys a sense of what philosophy has been and engages students in a philosophical reflection on perennial and contemporary issues. Emphasizes knowledge, freedom, value and society.

PREREQUISITE COURSES:

None

COURSE OUTCOMES:

Upon completion of this course, learners should be able to:

1. Identify the major issues in philosophical discourse and the positions of individual philosophers on these issues.
2. Compare and contrast the positions of philosophers on major issues.
3. Construct philosophically sound arguments that articulate their own position on these major issues.
4. Discuss Jesuit values as they relate to the subject matter.

COURSE MATERIALS:

Required Texts:

Chaffee, J. (2013). The philosopher's way: Thinking critically about profound ideas (4th ed.). Upper Saddle River, NJ: Prentice Hall (Pearson). ISBN13: 978-0-205-25469-9 or ISBN10: 0-205-25469-1 softcover (book only).

Readings on Electronic Reserve (Listed on the syllabus and indicated by the abbreviation ER. Bibliography for ER readings is located in Appendix D of this syllabus).

Students are required to access the Purdue Online Writing Lab (OWL) for information about composition strategies, grammar and punctuation rules, and APA formatting and citation styles. The OWL can be accessed at the following online site: http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/
While the OWL is free to access as a reference resource, please note the Fair Use Policy regarding restrictions for using the OWL at http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/551/01

Recommended:

Strunk, W., & White, E. B. (2000). The elements of style (4th ed.). Needham Heights, MA: Longman (Pearson). ISBN13: 978-0-205-30902-3 or ISBN10: 0-205-30902-X softcover.

RegisNET Email Account

A RegisNET Account allows students to use and access Regis University web-based resources. Student use of RegisNet email protects student identity and ensures more confidential exchange of information between Regis students and instructors.
RegisNET provides access to SHAREPOINT, ™SMARTHINKING, free email, course modules and syllabi, Dayton Memorial Library Databases, computer labs, presentation equipment, etc. To register for a RegisNET account, go to INsite http://insite.regis.edu/, select "RegisNET Account." You will be required to post either your social security number or student ID. Specific instructions on how to create a RegisNet account are at the following link: https://in2.regis.edu/sites/nurse/03062042152/Orientation%20Documents/How%20to%20create%20a%20RegisNET%20account.doc

PRE-ASSIGNMENT:

- Required Reading:
  - Chaffee, Chapter 1
  - Cole, "The Emergence of a Feminist Philosophy" (ER)
  - Zea, "The Actual Function of Philosophy in Latin America" (ER)
  - (For information on how to login to eReserves, see eReserves - How to Access).

- Writing Assignment: Read carefully the excerpt from Bertrand Russell's, The Value of Philosophy. (This is found in Chaffee, Chapter 1).
  - Write a 3-4 page paper in which you address the following:

- Identify at least two reasons why Russell thinks the study of philosophy is valuable and summarize them.
- Do you agree or disagree with Russell and why?
- Compare and contrast Russell's view of the value of philosophy with the feminist and Latin American perspectives. Which view is most closely aligned with your own and why?

- Your paper will be graded according to the directions of the assignment and the paper rubric found in Appendix One of this syllabus. It should be grammatically correct, virtually free from typolographical errors, and sources cited according to APA.

COURSE POLICIES AND PROCEDURES:

Facilitator's Expectations

Class Participation

Learners are expected to make every effort to attend all class meetings. Learners unable to attend the first class must contact the facilitator ahead of time. Learners will be dropped from the course if they do not attend the first night of class. If the learner misses more than one class, the learner will automatically fail the class.

One absence will be excused in the case of an emergency (illness, death, or life-altering event), and make-up work will be allowed. You must contact your facilitator to see if your absence constitutes an emergency and to work out alternative due dates for assignments.

Incomplete Policy

The School of Humanities and Social Sciences has adopted the following policy:

Incompletes are granted at the discretion of the faculty. The student must submit the Incomplete Grade Request Form to the instructor explaining the unforeseen circumstances which have occurred. The student also must have completed 75% of the course with a passing grade in order to be eligible for an incomplete. The length of time and the remaining requirements to complete the course are determined by the instructor; however, the maximum length of time for completion is the end of the following term. The required form can be found by clicking on this link.

Email Communication

Email communication between facilitators and learners must be conducted using Regis email addresses, or, in the case of online courses, must use the course mail system. Your facilitator will respond to emails within 24-48 hours.

Guidelines for Writing Assignments

APA Documentation Style

The School of Humanities and Social Sciences has adopted the APA documentation style for referencing source materials and as a style guide for written papers. For more information on proper documentation see the Purdue Online Writing Lab (OWL): http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/.

Grammar and Mechanics
All papers should follow the guidelines provided by the facilitator and will be graded according to undergraduate standards of scholarship. These standards are outlined in the grading rubric in Appendix A of this syllabus. Papers should be typed (double-spaced) and sources properly referenced using APA. Content, grammar, organization, and clarity of thought will be considered as part of the grading process. Do not cite Wikipedia as a source in your papers.

Late Paper Policy: Papers are due at the beginning of the class period. I will accept late papers, but 5 points will be deducted per day.

Guidelines for Oral Presentations and Debates
Oral presentations and debates will be graded according to the instructions given for the assignment and the rubrics located in Appendix B and C.

COURSE ASSIGNMENTS AND ACTIVITIES:

Week	Topics	Activities	Readings	Graded Assignments or Assessments and Associated Points
1	Topic One: The Discipline of Philosophy	Suggested Activities Introduction Facilitator-led discussion: What is philosophy? What do philospohers study? Is philosophy (or the pursuit of wisdom) "dangerous"? Why/why not? Self-assessment: In-class non-graded quiz on the branches of philosophy Small group activity: View the Podcast: Alain de Botton, "On Philosophy Within and Outside the Academy" Discuss of the value of philosophy in light of your pre-assignment and the the de Botton podcast. What is the value of philosophy? Critical Thinking Exercise: Watch the Monty Python clip, "The Argument Clinic." Break into small groups and select one group member's editorial to analyze. Use the questions	Required: Chaffee, Chapter 1 Cole, "The Emergence of a Feminist Philosophy" (ER) Zea, "The Actual Function of Philosophy in Latin America" (ER)	Pre-Assignment (10 possible maximum points) *Bring a substantive editorial piece (from magazines like Newsweek, Time, Bloomberg Businessweek, The Atlantic, The New Republic, The Nation, etc.) to class with you. Please do not bring newspaper editorials.

		in "Evaluating Arguments" (in Chaffee, Chapter 1) to evaluate the argument. Is the conclusion sound? Why/why not? Present your evaluation to the class.
2	Topic Two: The Examined Life  	Suggested Activities Group discussion: View the following: Video: Socrates on Self-Confidence. Discuss the ideas presented in the video in light of your paper. Class discussion: View clips from the film, Twelve Angry Men. Do you detect the use of the Socratic method in the reasoning used by the jurors? If so, explain. If not, discuss how the Socratic method might help to bring resolution to the conflict. Small group activity: Socrates and Ignatian Values. In light of the readings and discussions on Socrates and Fr. Nicolás' essay, discuss the following questions: 1. Compare and contrast the Socratic method with Fr. Nicolás' discussion of the Ignatian imagination.	Required: Chaffee, Chapter 2 West, "Apology of Socrates" (ER) Fr. Nicolás, "Promoting Depth of Thought and Imagination" Optional: Video: Socratic Method Interview: Conducted by Melvyn Bragg on Socrates place in Ancient thought	Paper: Write a 3-4 page paper in which you do the following: 1. Briefly describe the Socratic method in your own words. 2. Identify what you believe to be the greatest strength and the greatest weakness of the Socratic method 3. What contemporary issue is most in need of the Socratic method today and why? 4. Apply the Socratic method to the contemporary issue you selected, and discuss how it helps to provide clarity and resolution to the problem. (10 possible maximum points)

		What similarities and differences can you identify? 2. How would you assess the value of the Ignatian imagination in the study of philosophy? Do you find it useful and why? 3. Review the contemporary issue you selected to discuss in your paper. Discuss how Fr. Nicolás' approach could be used on it. Compare and contrast the Socratic method with Fr. Nicolás' approach. How would you assess their strengths and weaknesses?
3	Topic Three: Metaphysics	Suggested Activities: Self-assessment Quiz (non-graded): Match the pre-Socratic philosopher with his view of the fundamental nature of reality. Small group activity: Plato and Dualism. View the following: The Allegory of the Cave and the Red and Blue Pill scene from The Matrix. Discuss these	Chaffee, Chapter 5 Podcast: Listen to A. C. Grayling on Descartes' Cogito Argument	Write a 3-4 paper that address the following questions: 1. Do you agree that we are all born imprisoned by our own conceptions of reality? 2. Why does Plato mistrust the senses? Why does he believe they cannot be trusted to reveal the true nature of reality? Can you think of an example that illustrates Plato's distrust of scenes in light of your readings and papers. What is Plato's view of the nature of reality? How would you explain his theory of Forms? Do you agree or disagree with his theory and why? Small group discussion: Aristotle: The Natural is the Real. Watch the following video on Aristotle. Discuss the following questions: 1. Why does Aristotle maintain that one should trust the senses? How does this help him discover the nature of reality? 2. What are the four causes? How do they help explain the nature of reality? 3. How does Plato's view on the nature of reality differ from Aristotle's view? 4. Is your own view more closely aligned with Plato or Aristotle and why? Class discussion: Cartesian Doubt. Watch the following clip from The Matrix. Reflect on the clip and your readings		images? Can we trust everything we see with our eyes? 3. Is reality just what we think it is, or is there an objective reality, one not reducible to opinion or belief, that we can know? (10 possible maximum points) on Descartes as you respond to the following questions: 1. In the Meditations, Descartes raises a provocative question: how do we know that we are not now dreaming? Or, to frame the question in a more contemporary way, how do we know that we are not pods in The Matrix? Do the senses give reliable information? Can they be trusted to tell us what is real and why? 2. How does Descartes' example of the honeycomb wax demonstrate the way he uses reason to move beyond doubt into knowledge? 3. How does Descartes resolve his skeptical doubt? In other words, what rational steps does he take to move from doubt to certitude?

4	Topic Four: Epistemology	Student Presentations Facilitator-led discussion on	Review Chaffee, Chapter 5 (sections on epistemology) and read	Write a 4-5 page research paper in which you do the following: 1. Pick one of the following subjects to

		Standpoint epistemology	Chapter 6 Harding, "Rethinking Standpoint Epistemology" (ER)	search: President John F. Kennedy's assassination, the 1969 Apollo moon landing, the Lizzy Borden case, the Jack the Ripper case, or a topic approved by your facilitator. 2. Research to find competing accounts on the event you selected. For example, while the Warren Commission determined that Lee Harvey Oswald assassinated President Kennedy, many alternative accounts have been proposed. 3. Provide a brief description of at least two of these account. What reasons and evidence are given to support each position? Are the reason cited and the evidenc given credible? Why/why not? 4. Evaluate each of the accounts from the perspective of Descartes (rationalism), Hume (empiricism), and Kant (transcendental idealism). How would they assess the competing accounts? 5. Which analysis (i.e., Descartes, Hume, or Kant) do you more compelling and why? (10 possible maximum points) Create a 7-10 minute PowerPoint presentation in which you present the findings of your research to the class. (10 possible maximum points)
5	Topic Five: The Self, Freedom, and	Facilitator-led discussion: Who am I? What is the relationship	Chaffee, Chapters 3 and 4	Write a 3-4 page paper in which you do the following:

	Determinism	between the self (or the soul) and the body? Watch the Simpsons' episode, "Bart Sells His Soul." Discuss the episode in light of the theories of the self. Which view is most closely aligned with your own? What are the strenghs and weaknesses of your own position? How does your view affect the way you live? Small group activity: Do we have free will? View clips from The Adjustment Bureau and discuss the film in light of your readings and papers.		1. Describe an experience in which you felt free to make whatever decision you wanted, and describe an experience in which you felt constrained to act in a particular way because of outside forces (psychological, sociological, environmental, biological, or divine). 2. How do you understand these experiences? How do they fit with your own view? Are you a determinist, an indeterminist, or a compatibilist? How does your position affect decision-making? (10 possible maximum points)
6	Topic Six: Philosophy of Religion	Debate: Does God Exist? Class activity: Theodicy: Listen to the Podcast, Marilyn McCord Adams on Evil. Does the problem of evil challenge the existence of God? How do we live given the reality of evil? Small group activity: What happens when we die? View clips from the 2010 PBS film, The Buddha. Discuss the perspective of the Buddha in light of other theories of the afterlife. Which view is most closely aligned with your own	Chaffee, Chapter 7 Levinas, "The Face" and "God and Philosophy" (ER)	Participate in a team debate on God's existence. (10 possible maximum points) view and why?

7	Topic Seven: Ethics	Class discussion: The Status of Moral Claims. Watch a short clip from Do The Right Thing. Is Sal morally obligated to include pictures of African Americans on his Wall of Fame? If so, why? If not, why not? What does your answer tell you about your understanding of the status of ethical claims?	Chaffee, Chapters 8 and 9 Oliver, "Julia Kristeva's Outlaw Ethics" (ER) Nussbaum, "Judging Other Cultures" (ER)	Write a 3-4 page paper uses normative ethical theories (or a single theory) to defend your position on one of the following questions: 1. Is waterboarding morally defensible as method of interrogation? 2. Given the realities of modern factory farming methods, is it ethical to eat meat? 3. Using Kristeva's theory of the ethics, provide an analysis of immigration in the United States and assess its strengths and weaknesses. Note: Julia Kristeva is also a continental philosopher. She draws on philosophy and psychoanalysis to develop her "outlaw ethics." 4. Write on a topic of your choice that has been pre-approved by your facilitator. Your paper should provide a brief explanation of the moral problem and draw on ethical theories to defend your position on the issue (15 possible maximum points)
8	Topic 8: Social Justice	Class discussion: What is your ideal society? Class reflection on student papers	Chaffee, Chapter 10	Write a 3-4 page paper in which do the following: 1. Refer to the "Thinking Philosophically"

		Small group discussion: Political discourse is often punctuated with words like liberalism, capitalism, socialism, and communism. But there is widespread confusion and disagreement over the meaning of the terms. Your group should provide a definition of the terms and discuss which sociopolitical theory and method of economic organization promote a just society. Class discussion: Locke's Influence on Jefferson. How did Locke's theory of natural rights influence Thomas Jefferson? Why do you think Jefferson changed Locke's statement of inalienable rights ("life, liberty, and property") to "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness"? Which do you prefer and why?		box in Chapter 10 (Chaffee). Reflect on the questions. 2. Craft a response in which you summarize your ideal society and explain why a particular theory of justice is most likely to bring that society into fruition. (15 possible maximum points)

NOTE TO LEARNERS: On occasion, the course facilitator may, at his or her discretion, alter the Learning Activities shown in this Syllabus. The alteration of Learning Activities may not, in any way, change the Learner Outcomes or the grading scale for this course as contained in this syllabus. Examples of circumstances that could justify alterations in Learning Activities could include number of learners in the course; compelling current events; special facilitator experience or expertise; or unanticipated disruptions to class session schedule.

Appendix A: Paper and Participation Grading Rubrics

Grade	Performance on Written Assignments
A	The writer completes the task set by the assignment, and the paper is excellent in nearly all respects. It exhibits the following characteristics: • well argued; • well organized; • clear thesis; • contains well-developed content that is specific, accurate, interesting, and appropriate; • demonstrates the author's ability to produce and synthesize complex ideas; • contains logical connectors and transitions which contribute to a fluent style. The paper is virtually free of errors in sentence structure, usage, mechanics, and documentation style (APA) and shows evidence of excellent control of language, creativity, and originality.
B	Shares most of the characteristics of the "A" paper. The reasoning is logical, and the content is effectively organized into coherent units. Areas of weakness may be: • less careful reasoning than found in the "A" paper; • minor problems in paragraphing and / or organization. The paper has few errors in sentence structure, usage, mechanics, and documentation style. Those few errors do not interfere with comprehension and are not distracting to the reader.
C	The writer has come to terms with the basic task of the assignment, and the paper is generally competent. The organization is sufficiently clear that the reader can move with relative ease through the discourse. The paper, however, has problems in one or more of the following areas: • it may have a weak thesis; • the development of minor points may be weak, but the writer provides evidence of the ability to support key ideas; • connectors and transitions may be lacking or illogical. The paper may contain some awkward or ineffective sentences and may show some problems with mechanics, usage, or documentation style. These errors, however, are not serious or frequent enough to consistently distract the reader from the content or to interfere significantly with comprehension.
D	The writer shows difficulty managing the task of the assignment in some significant way. For example: • the thesis may be vague, too broad, or too obvious to be effectively developed; • the thesis may lack adequate support; • paragraphing and organization may be weak, but the reader is never completely lost in terms of following the train of thought; • the writer fails to come to terms with the assignment. • The primary task is ignored, misconstrued, badly mishandled, or redefined to accommodate what the writer wants to say or is able to say. This category may also be used for the paper that is obviously off topic, regardless of the quality of the writing. The paper contains errors in grammar, sentence construction, mechanics, usage and/or documentation style that often interfere with comprehension or prove distracting to the reader. The paper has a number of ungrammatical or poorly constructed sentences and serious, frequent errors in mechanics and usage that impede understanding. The difference between a "D" paper and an "F" paper lies primarily in the pervasiveness of errors.

Online and Classroom Participation
Performance Levels	Exemplary (A)	Satisfactory (B)	Marginal (C)	Poor
Critical Engagement Online & Classroom	The post or class participation demonstrates mastery of the theories discussed in the readings, and those theories were appropriately drawn upon for support and practical application.	The post or class participation demonstrates some confusion with respect to the assigned readings or failed to incorporate theory in support of the author's viewpoint and practical applications.	The post or class participation demonstrates both confusion with respect to theories in the assigned readings and a failure to apply theory to the author's viewpoint.	The student failed to post to the forum or to participate in class.
Grammar & Rhetoric Online	The post met word count requirements and was grammatically correct with virtually no spelling or mechanical errors. Its construction facilitated dialogue with colleagues.	The post met word count requirements and was generally grammatically and technically correct, but contained some errors. The structure of the post was acceptable but argumentation could have been better constructed.	The post failed to meet word count requirements and had considerable grammatical and mechanical errors, which rendered it difficult to comprehend.	The student failed to post to the forum or posted in an unhelpful, intimidating or disruptive manner.
Classroom	Discussion reflects a theoretical and practical clarity and fluency combined with good interpersonal skills.	Discussion reflects some theoretical and practical clarity with satisfactory interpersonal skills.	Discussion reflects little theoretical and practical clarity with minimal interpersonal skills.	Student failed to participate in class or communicated in an unhelpful, intimidating or disruptive manner.
APA Citation Online	Sources were appropriately and properly cited using APA.	Sources were appropriately cited but not properly referenced using APA format.	Some sources were not appropriately cited, nor properly cited using APA.	The student failed to post to the forum.
